

ENVINTA™

Empowering Energy & Environmental Solutions

ENVINTA™

About ENVINTA

ENVINTA is a world leading developer of energy and environmental information solutions for utilities and large commercial, industrial, government and institutional organizations.

"Our strength is our innovation, our 20 years' experience and our unrelenting philosophy of delivering solutions that have one goal: to provide sustainable reductions in costs and risks with compelling returns for our customers" Jonathan Jutsen, Founder.

Contact

www.envinta.com
solutions@envinta.com

USA UK Australia

solutions

ENVINTA develops energy and environmental information solutions for executives of large organizations in all industry sectors.

Rising resource costs and growing environmental concerns are leading large organizations to think about energy.

> Smart organizations know that energy is not just a fixed cost.

> Smart organizations know that sustainable and significant bottom line savings can be achieved.

> Smart organizations know that energy management can enhance public profile.

> Smart organizations know that if these issues do not affect them today, they will some time soon.

ENVINTA's solutions are integrated management information systems that answer fundamental questions about an organization's current, past and future energy management performance.

ENVINTA's solutions reduce complexity and enable corporate management to take control of energy costs and related environmental impacts.

ENVINTA's solutions have been proven with organizations from all industry sectors.

These include:

- > Financial services
- > Food & beverage
- > Government
- > Healthcare
- > Minerals
- > Mining
- > Packaging
- > Petroleum
- > Pharmaceuticals
- > Retail
- > Telecommunications

delivery

ENVINTA provides the technology for integrated energy and environmental management solutions around the world.

> Some organizations have sufficient internal expertise to realize value from systems and technology investments.

> Many organizations require varying levels of help, support and integration with existing systems and processes.

> ALL organizations want to feel that their energy and environmental management solution is being tailored to meet their critical business needs.

ENVINTA' and its world-class partners can deliver, to any organization, irrespective of language, geography or industry sector.

